

Stilton Literary Agency

Wing women

Original title: Fallesjuke
Publisher: Kagge Forlag 2020
Fiction / Crime
89000 Words
Norwegian, German & French PDF, English samples and synopsis

A female skydiving team is doing a formation jump at the opening ceremony of the annual extreme sports festival. But in a shocking turn of events, one of the skydivers crashes to the ground in front of the crowd.

Based on examination of the equipment, the police have no doubt: This was no accident. The deceased woman was murdered. Agnes Tveit is on site to cover the opening for the local newspaper. Agnes, a 39-year-old, junk food-loving, not-always-concerned-about-journalistic-code-of-ethics writer, grew up in Voss, but lived in Oslo for 20 years. She recently left her job at the national daily VG to move back home, and she is afraid it was all a big mistake. The plan was to bring her boyfriend to her hometown to settle down and raise a family. Problem is, she is not getting pregnant, and the relationship to Fredrik is becoming more strained each day. Agnes is well familiar with both the murdered woman and the three other women of the skydiving team. For the first time since she moved back, Agnes' curiosity awakens. Who wanted to kill Veslemøy Liland – and why? Agnes Tveit soon realizes that answers to the murder mystery might lie somewhere in her own past.

Foreign rights

Fischer Verlag, Germany
Forlaget Grønningen 1, Denmark
Strawberry Publishing, Sweden
Albin Michel, France
Ambo Anthos, Netherlands
Front Film, Film/TV-rights
Perseus, Bulgaria
Knigolove, Ukraine

Randi Fuglehaug

Randi Fuglehaug is an experienced journalist and editor. She was a US correspondent for Dagbladet in New York and has contributed to several of Norway's most important newspapers and magazines, as well as working in television and hosting the podcast Fødselspodden. She has authored both literary children's books and narrative non-fiction. Alt vel med mor og barn -- historier om fødsel (Samlaget 2018) is her most recent non-fiction title, and the same year she published her latest children's book Skalla (Samlaget). She grew up in Voss in Western Norway, but lives in Oslo with her husband and two children.

Other titles

Diva Diaries (January 2021)
Dead Head (2023)