Karine Strand Andresen

Karine Strand Andresen is a mother of four, a "knitting mother" and city manager in an advertising agency. She started developing her own knitting patterns when she gave birth to a very small baby. On Instagram, she is known as @tiddelibom.no. In her designs, she emphasizes that the garments should have a good fit and be easy to wear. As a mother of very small babies, it has been important to develop patterns for the very youngest, and therefore her patterns are often all the way down to premature sizes.
